

Harvard Science Policy Group Presents

How to Influence Policy Workshop with Dr. Matthew Bunn

Monday, March 20th at 4pm
Lehman Hall, Rm 102 (Cambridge)

Interested in science policy? Please join us for a workshop led by Dr. Bunn on how to influence policy for scientists!

Matthew Bunn is the James R. Schlesinger Professor of the Practice of Energy, National Security, and Foreign Policy at the Harvard Kennedy School. His research interests include nuclear theft and terrorism; nuclear arms control and strategic stability; nuclear proliferation and measures to control it; the future of nuclear energy and its fuel cycle; and innovation in energy technologies. Before coming to Harvard, Bunn served as an adviser to the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy, as a study director at the National Academy of Sciences, and as editor of Arms Control Today. He is the author or co-author of more than 25 books or major technical reports (most recently Revitalizing Nuclear Security in an Era of Uncertainty), and over 150 articles in publications ranging from Science to The Washington Post.
